It's Up To the People

The people of Ada who desire to see public improvements in keeping with the general progress of the town in other respects will have to wake up and get busy or else be content to see Ada take her stand in the country town class and remain there indefinitely.

No other one thing advertises a town as readily as a liberal amount of street paving in places where it is practical and where it is actually needed.

No one wants to burden the community with unnecessary expense or taxes, yet we can hardly believe that there is a citizen or property holder in Ada who wants to leave property values where they are and remain in the country town class simply to evade the payment of a little street paving tax immediately.

Property always advances more than enough to cover the cost of paving, which fact alone should be argument enough for the paving, but when the luxury of the thing to the property owner himself and the general advantage to the community as a whole is taken into consideration it is hard to see where any reasonable argument could be advanced against it.

Hundreds of cities in the middle west, and many of them in Oklahoma, no larger than Ada, have miles of paving to where we have blocks, and the fact that they are still paving—in fact have never stopped paving—should be proof sufficient that it pays and pays well.

Many Ada citizens have reached this conclusion—and many of them are ready and willing to pave—but just as we are ready to start we are confronted with a problem that must be solved or else all our good intentions will be of naught.

We refer to the fact that already there are petitions filed with the city commissioners asking for about forty blocks of paving—and in the districts where it is most needed—but it is useless to pave until permanent water main and sewer construction has been done.

Townsend, Broadway, Rennie and possibly one or two other important thoroughfares should be paved—and the people are willing that they should be—but it can't be done, according to the city commissioners who know what they are talking about, until these other improvements and extensions are made.

And the "John" part of it all is, WE HAVEN'T THE MONEY IN HAND FOR THAT PURPOSE!

The only way it can be had is by floating a bond issue sufficient to do it. It might take a hundred thousand dollars. Or it might take more, as no estimates have been made, but it makes no difference what it takes, the fact remains that we haven't got it and that a bond issue for that purpose is the only way it can be had.

At a meeting of the commercial club some time ago it was pointed out that the people east of the Katy tracks—all of that part of the city—were being supplied by a four inch main and that during the summer the water supply was not even sufficient for domestic purposes, much less for fire protection.

At this meeting the city commissioners were very frank. They stated that the situation confronting the people was serious, but they could not forget the fact that the people not long since rejected a bond issue for this self same purpose.

Are all the people on the east side of the city to furnish for water and have their insurance invalidated just because the rest of the city is yet safe, and just because a few people are not willing to risk the administration in the expenditure of the money in doing the work?

We do not know for a fact that this is the reason the bonds were defeated, but we have heard it hinted at, and the commissioners have heard it hinted at, and that is possibly the reason the commissioners are more or less timid in recommending that the bond issue be given another trial.

At any rate we don't believe the people of Ada are that narrow. We had rather believe that those who voted against the issue before were not informed on the question as they should have been informed.

We do know that Ada is facing a serious problem in the lack of funds to provide the improvements that will give the people an adequate water supply and at the same time enable us to proceed with the paving.

It is pure rot to say that we wouldn't get our money's worth insofar as our commissioners or any other body of honest men would be able to give it to us.

We say this without being for or against the administration, or for or against any one else. We say it because we heard the commissioners stand on the floor of the commercial club rooms on the night when the aforementioned meeting was called, and say that they were willing for the people to do the job themselves and put every restriction or safeguard around the administration that was necessary.

The News is not taking this stand for public improvements in the interest of any individual in the whole city or country 'round about. It is taking it because it is progressive; because a newspaper that is worth a copper to a community cannot afford to take anything but a progressive stand; and, finally, because the city needs the improvements in question just the same as you need food and clothing.

HOT SHOT FROM CLEMENCEAU

REPLIES TO DENIAL OF GERMAN RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE WAR.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, May 21.—It is too late to seek to deny both aggression in the war and responsibility for it, is the declaration made by Premier Clemenceau as president of the peace conference in replying to the German note on reparation made public last night. The argument put forth by Brockdorf-Rantzau was that Germany did not start a war of aggression; that the German people were convinced that they fought a defensive war and could not be held responsible for the faults of the former emperor.

Premier Clemenceau took up the points made by the Germans and declared that the German government last November made no protest against the charge by Secretary of State Lansing that Germany was the aggressor. The premier points out that Germany made the French government in 1871 responsible for acts of the imperial regimes in France although it had been overthrown.

WILL VOTE ON SUFFRAGE TODAY

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 21.—Consideration of the equal suffrage constitutional amendment resolution began in the house shortly after noon today under agreement to close general debate in two hours with the leaders expecting a vote immediately afterwards. In calling up the resolution Representative Mann, chairman of the suffrage committee, asked unanimous consent to extend the debating time to 5 o'clock but Representative Ferris, Oklahoma, refused to agree. Representative Little, Kansas, opened the debate with an address in support of the resolution.

$1250, $750, and $500, these are the latest gifts to the Methodist Centenary in Ada. At the close of business hours today the campaign will be two-thirds completed. 5-21-19

GERMANS ASK FOR MORE TIME

DELEGATION SAYS NOTES NOT YET COMPLETED.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, May 21.—Count von Brockdorf-Rantzau, head of the German peace delegation, has asked for an extension of the time for Germany to present her reply to the peace terms. The count stated that further notes were being prepared and that it would be impossible to complete them by 1 P. M. Thursday when the time limit is up. It is believed, says the Havas Agency that the request for the extension will be granted.

DISABLED ENGINE DELAYS FLIGHT

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, May 21.—(10:27 A. M.)—The American seaplane NC-4 will not start for Lisbon from Ponta Del Gada today according to a wireless dispatch received here by the American naval authorities. One of the engines of the seaplane is failing to work satisfactorily making postponement of the flight imperative. The NC-1 sank at sea after being towed to the entrance of the harbor and the NC-3, which suffered severe injuries, is being dismantled preparatory to being shipped back to the United States. If the NC-4 reaches Lisbon, 800 miles away, the next flight will be to Plymouth, England.

MORGAN MAY ATTEMPT TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIGHT

By the Associated Press.
ST. JOHNS, N. F., May 21.—The skeleton of Frederick P. Raynham's Martinsyde plane, straggled of its veneer and linen, was set up in a repair shop today to be reassembled. Captain C. F. F. Morgan indicated he would not fly with Raynham when he recovered from his injuries received when the machine was wrecked; but said he would make an effort to obtain a new plane and start an independent flight for the British Isles. Airmen here believe that in view of the fact that nothing has been heard from Hawker that his radio failed shortly after leaving here.

ADA

President Ebert declares he will never sign the peace treaty. Oh, well, the name of some other Hun will go just as well. At all events the allies are going to enforce it just the same.

Victor Berger has been denied his seat in congress, at least for the present. He has a little penitentiary account to settle with Uncle Sam, provided the higher courts affirm his conviction for disloyalty, and he is not particularly needed around the capitol, anyway. There were enough German sympathizers in congress before and during the war and besides Berger is in favor of tearing down just about everything that exists, sees little or no good in anything, so there is really no lace for him in congress in this time of reconstruction.

Tomorrow the citizens of Ada school district will vote on the tax levy for the maintenance of the schools for the coming year. There is but one question to be considered: Shall the children be denied the opportunity of securing an education? This is the chief debt the present generation owes the succeeding one and we cannot afford to repudiate the debt.

After this year every reader of the newspapers will have a chance to learn how poor his neighbors are. Under the law passed by the recent legislature all personal tax renditions will be published as soon as the tax assessor completes his rounds and the man who forgets to give in all his personal property will likely hear a howl from his neighbors that will carry to the board of equalization and then the fireworks will begin. While it will cost something to publish such a list, it is expected to so far deter taxpayers from giving in too little or else more will be caught and the coffers of the public considerably enriched.

The High School has made arrangements to offer to music lovers another rare treat in the near future.

One of the most marvelous high baritones of America is the soloist of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine of New York City, Erwin Mutch. Mr. Roland R. Witte of Kansas City who has been looking after the interests of the Ada High school in this line writes that they can have this wonderful singer on an open date and that he guarantees that he will delight an Ada audience as no other singer that we have ever heard.

The management has decided to accept this date and will present Erwin Mutch to its Ada friends about May 30th.

CENTENARY DRIVE HALF COMPLETED.

The Methodist people of this city have gone at the Big Drive to secure "Millions for Missions" in the usual Ada style. At the close of business hours on the third day of the drive half of the Ada quota of $15,000 had been secured with five days left to end the week.

During these three memorable days the team workers have secured gifts large and small. The largest gift secured is for $750.00, and the response of the people has been uniformly cordial and gracious.

It has been the policy of the Manager's Cabinet to ask many of the most liberal contributors of the congregation to delay making their gifts until they can be made in such manner as to close the campaign in ship shape.

We sincerely commend the faithful workers for the untiring efforts poured forth into their personal solicitations, and urge them to keep the good work going until we "Go Over the Top" on calendar time. We wish also to ask the people not yet visited to deal with the matter of their personal pledges in view of the crying need of the world for Christ and His gospel, and in obedience to His command: "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." Did He not also say, "Lo, I am with you even to the end of the world?"—The Centenary Cabinet.

P. S. After this report one pledge of $1250 was secured—Committee.

Back From Atlanta. Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Morris returned Tuesday from Atlanta, Ga., where they have been attending the Southern Baptist Convention.

Mr. Morris states that this was an epoch making convention in the history of Southern Baptists. There were nearly 5,000 delegates and about 5,000 visitors, making a total of ten thousand people in attendance.

The Inter-Church movement came up for consideration after a representative from the movement had spoken and it was unanimously decided and voted to have nothing to do with such a movement.

The greatest onward move ever undertaken by the denomination was the movement to launch a campaign for seventy-five million dollars in the next five years. It is predicted that the Northern Baptists will undertake to raise the same amount, which will make a total of one hundred fifty million by all Baptists in the U. S. A.

Rev. Morris will speak next Sunday morning at the First Baptist church on his experience at the convention, and will make a detailed report of the proceedings.

Centenary workers are asked to continue the good work they are doing, and we assure them that the goal of $15,000.00 is in sight.—The Centenary Cabinet. 5-21-19

PEACE TERMS MEANS SLAVERY

GERMAN CABINET LOUD IN DENUNCIATION OF ALLIED DEMANDS.

By the Associated Press. BERLIN, May 21.—"Germany declines to sign the peace terms laid before it because they spell economic destruction, political dishonor and moral degradation not only for the present but also for unborn generations," was the statement authorized by the German cabinet this morning through the Associated Press. "That these consequences must logically follow acceptance of the peace conditions the American press itself has recognized without question," the statement continues. "Toward them Germany took the standpoint that their acceptance could not be demanded and that the entente was unjustified in imposing them."

ARMY TRUCKS GIVEN FOR ROAD BUILDING

WASHINGTON, D. C. May 21.—Twenty thousand motor trucks have been turned over by the War Department to the Department of Agriculture to be distributed to State highway departments for use in road building. They range in capacity from two to five tons and have a value of more than $45,000,000.

All that the states must do to acquire these trucks is to pay the loading and freight charges and must agree to use them on road construction in whole or in part under federal aid, for which $200,000,000 was recently appropriated by congress.

The trucks were declared surplus by the War Department, and being no longer needed for war uses for which they were bought, it has been determined to divert them to peace purposes and at the same time extend the aid the federal government is giving the states in highway construction. The motors will be allotted to states only on request of highway departments in accordance with the apportionment provided in the federal aid law approved in 1916. Under the law, there can be no distribution to counties or individuals, but only to the states.

Roads Costing Millions Built. Under the stimulus of Federal aid the states have extensive highway construction under way. Under the federal road act, up to and including April, statements for a total of 1,057 road projects were approved by Secretary of Agriculture Houston, who administers the federal aid road law. The projects involved 10,580.17 miles of road, with a total estimated cost of $92,933,121.81 and total federal aid of $36,576,857.48. The number of projects actually executed up to that time was 535, for 4,624.83 miles road, at a cost of $39,959,327.44 of which $15,614,929.61 is to be paid from the federal treasury.

During April, Secretary Houston approved 120 road projects, involving the improvement of 923.53 miles at an estimated cost of $15,261,326.51 of which $7,528,550.68 will come from the federal appropriation. This is the largest estimate and the heaviest request for federal aid for any month since the passage of the law.

During the same month, the secretary of agriculture and state highway departments executed 55 road project agreements, involving the improvement of 521.51 miles of road to cost $4,626,415.48 of which $2,039,614.99 will be paid from the federal appropriation.

Let us cast a solid vote to support our public schools to the end that our children may have as good advantages for education as any in Oklahoma.

SKETCH OF HIGH SCHOOL CADETS

The second week in September, 1917, saw the beginning of the high school cadets corps so far as the local high school was concerned. The first company was organized under the instruction of Principal Fentem and maintained its organization and carried on its training throughout the year.

It was easy to interest the boys of the school in the organization because of the war which inspired patriotism in their hearts and held out the prospect of active military service. In fact a number of the members of last year's company enlisted later, and some of them are now with the American armies in France.

At the beginning of the present year the company was reorganized under the instruction of Captain Wade Stevens and the training proved so well adapted to the high school course that the board of education decided to introduce it as a special elective course in the high school under the Wyoming plan.

This plan is recognized by the federal government which furnishes part of the supplies for its equipment.

For this course which is of a well organized text and drill course the pupil is given a unit of credit and, under the patronage of the government, is recognized by colleges and universities as a credit in physical training. It is comprehensive embracing all of the student activities for boys within its scope and placing a very high value upon clean, manly deportment in all phases of the boy's experience.

It is the hope of the high school next year to increase the enrollment in this class until the organization can rank with the best in the country.

The leading schools of the country are adopting this system and the local school is to be congratulated upon being among those schools whose enterprise has taken advantage of the benefits of this most excellent system of moral and physical training.

SEWERS AND WATER MAINS BEFORE PAVING

The city commissioners held their regular weekly session yesterday afternoon, with Mayor Kitchen in the chair, and quite a bit of detail business was transacted. The regular array of miscellaneous bills were read and allowed, and minor details relating to street work and other public improvements were discussed and disposed of through regular channels.

The writer learned that petitions are being filed rapidly for street paving in sections where it is most needed, but it was pointed out that it would be impossible to proceed further with paving in the city until a bond issue could be voted which would furnish money with which to make the necessary improvements in the way of water mains and storm sewers on streets where paving is proposed.

It was reported that petitions were on file and in process of being filed for about forty blocks of paving, but it would be folly, according to the commissioners, to attempt to pave over streets that had faulty and inadequate water mains and sewers.

SCHOOL BUILDING CONTRACT IS LET

AWARDED TO J. J. ROONEY, OF MUSKOGEE, YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

The contract for the new ward school building, for which the city of Ada recently voted bonds in the sum of fifty thousand dollars, was awarded yesterday afternoon by the Ada public school board to J. J. Rooney, a building contractor of Muskogee.

The building was submitted for bids with and without a gymnasium and the bid as it was accepted includes the gymnasium, for which the students who will attend the school will be forever thankful.

Mr. Rooney's bid was $39,367.00, being the lowest of the four bids submitted. Hill & Son, of Ada, submitted a bid of $43,300.00; Krepper & Shaffer, of El Reno, a bid of $43,695.00, and Scott, of Sulphur, a bid of $46,080.00. Mr. Rooney, being the lowest bidder and qualified in every way according to the board, was accordingly awarded the contract.

The rapid growth of the city has caused a congestion in all the school buildings of the city, and while the building in prospect will not take care of the situation adequately for very long it will, of course, relieve the situation considerably for the time being.

It is the opinion of those in touch with school matters that the city should at once set about to vote bonds in an equal amount to the last issue to erect, as soon as possible, another building of like proportions.

"COMMON CLAY" LO, THE "SOUL CINEMA,"

Fannie Ward, whose emotional work in "Common Clay" she considers to be the most complete of her career, has watched the great picture on the screen with absolute indifference, not because she does not value it as a fine achievement, but for the reason that she has seen the realistic story pictured in an amazing, miraculous fashion. Alden Sedgwick, the author who is something of an occultist says Miss Ward is probably the first person in history who has witnessed a story in the "soul cinema." For the charming actress saw, in a crystal ball, many of the most dramatic moods of the Harvard prize play; but the Boston writer contends that if the play had not been dominating her mind she could not have seen it in the crystal.

When Miss Ward was a popular stage favorite in London and the wife of Joseph Lewis, diamond-mining magnate, she numbered Andrew Lang among her distinguished literary acquaintances. The poet-essayist had collected many odd objects from all quarters of the globe and his crystals were especially valuable. One of these a sphere, pure and transparent as a drop of dew, he presented to the fair American, who, at that time, became interested in the fashionable fad of crystal gazing. Miss Ward declares that in the depths of the globe she "saw things dimly." Mr. Lang mildly indulged here in her curiosity but having no faith in the supernatural aspect of the crystal gazing, wrote:

"Now it is an ascertained matter of fact that a certain proportion of men and women, educated, healthy, with no belief in 'spiritualism' can produce hallucinations, pictures, by looking into a crystal ball. Some observers can discover the elements of these pictures in their memory. Others cannot trace any connection between what they see and their past experience. They are not hypnotized; they are, in all respects, their waking selves at the time of gazing."

"There are a few who profess to be clairvoyant when they gaze—to see distant historical events, or contemporary events occurring at a distance. These assertions require a monstrous deal of evidence; the most prolonged experience of a seer's ability can scarcely permit us to believe such remarkable statements."

"But the ordinary crystal-gazer merely illustrates a human faculty, like the strange mental visualization of figures which was first noticed scientifically by Galton. We are to believe the reports of these arithmetical visualizers, yet, for my own part, I never visualized a figure any more than I ever saw anything but reflections in a crystal ball."

Miss Ward esteems the crystal globe one of the most precious of her treasures and one night, as the story goes, after an extremely trying day of studio work in "Common Clay," she was sitting in her library mentally going over the entire story. Her mind was thus engaged to the exclusion of all else. And as she looked out into space, her eyes rested on the crystal ball.

CONSTIPATION

And Sour Stomach Caused This Lady Much Suffering. Black-Draught Relieved.

Meadorsville, Ky.—Mrs. Pearl Patrick, of this place, writes: "I was very constipated. I had sour stomach and was so uncomfortable. I went to the doctor. He gave me some pills. They weakened me and seemed to tear up my digestion. They would gripe me and afterwards it seemed I was more constipated than before."

I heard of Black-Draught and decided to try it. I found it just what I needed. It was an easy laxative, and not bad to swallow. My digestion soon improved. I got well of the sour stomach, my bowels soon seemed normal, no more griping, and I would take a dose now and then, and was in good shape."

I cannot say too much for Black-Draught for it is the finest laxative one can use."

Thedford's Black-Draught has for many years been found of great value in the treatment of stomach, liver and bowel troubles. Easy to take, gentle and reliable in its action, leaving no bad after-effects, it has won the praise of thousands of people who have used it.

It seemed to be enveloped in a light mist, which slowly lifted, and there, in the depths of the crystal, she saw the story of "Common Clay" unfolding, as though it were caught from the very life.

"I entered heart and soul into the making of this great modern story," explained Miss Ward. "I studied it from every angle; I read it and reread it and became so saturated with it that I could feel every emotion of the girl, the secret sweetheart—the mother! The Lang crystal gave back to me a series of vivid pictures and one evening after one of these revelations I was so overwrought that I swooned. Dr. Corbin Sherwood explains it all by that I was objectifying a subjective thought or something of that sort. Which, however, does not explain anything to me. All I know is—and I regret that gentle Andrew Lang is not here to hear it—that I looked into a glass ball and saw the story of 'Common Clay' in flashes, in scenes and then unfolding in logical succession. Nerves? Maybe, but I am still full of the mystery and wonder of it."

Showing at the American theatre Thursday and Friday, May 22 and 23. Special music.

Presbyterian Auxiliary Entertained. The Ladies Auxiliary to the Presbyterian Church held its last meeting Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Virgil Hale of 129 North Hope, when the hostesses were Mrs. Hale, Mrs. J. M. Gordon and Mrs. C. V. Gowling.

The house was one bower of roses, red roses, white roses, and pink roses—but everywhere there were roses diffusing their fragrance.

An unusually large representation of members was present and an impromptu program was given as follows: Mrs. Zimmerman favored the guests with a number of choice piano selections, among them were "Minuetto," from "Don Juan" by Moszkowski, and "Polonaise," by Chopin. Mrs. Molloy's voice never seemed so sweet as on this occasion when she sang, "In the Time of the Roses," "By the Waters of Minnatonka," and making the biggest hit when she gave "Bringing Up the Family" as an encore. Mrs. Byron Norrell gave in her pleasing manner a group of three songs, "I Hear You Calling Me," "A Japanese Love Song," and "Can't You Hear Me Calling, Caroline." Little Anna Lee Warren and Marjorie Sugg delighted the audience with their childlike readings. The guests felt that the afternoon's enjoyment was incomplete without a number from Mrs. Stauffer, so by special request she gave "Kate Ketchum," a parody on "Maude Mulier," which was one of the cleverest numbers rendered.

The refreshments were all the more delicious when served while Geraldine Hale gave a number of vocal selections.

This being the last social of the Ladies Auxiliary for this season they were loathe to leave and the afternoon was waning into evening ere they took their departure.
